

COVID-19 update: RIWC Office Closed during COVID-19 pandemic. Suspension of in-person services.

The health and safety of our staff, clients, volunteers, and partners is of utmost priority to RIWC. Following the guidelines provided by the Saskatchewan Health Authority and the Public Health Agency of Canada, and in consultation with our federal and provincial partners, RIWC has suspended any in-person services, workshops and programs till further notice.

Limited services will be offered over the phone, online, or through teleconferencing. All face-to-face classes, workshops and events have been cancelled for now.

Please see the following information to help us better serve you:

- Please explore our website to get information on our programs and services.
- If you need to enquire about or register in any of our programs and/or services, or want to make an appointment for April or May 2020, please call 306-359-6514. We will be answering our call during our regular business hours. If you reach a voicemail out of those hours, please leave a brief message, clearly stating your name and a phone number to reach you back. We will try to call you back as soon as we can.
- You can alternatively send us an email at info@reginaiwc.ca.
- If you are currently enrolled in any of our English training classes or want to enquire about the next available classes, please call 306-359-1695.
- If you are currently our client in any of our programs and/or services, please email your contact staff directly.
- If you are in immediate need of family support services/ case management services, please call 306-359-6514 and you will be redirected to the appropriate staff.
- If you are an active volunteer, please email at volunteercoordinator@reginaiwc.ca for further information
- If you are a prospective volunteer, please fill out an online Volunteer Application here.

Presently, we will be unable to register new clients.

We apologize for any inconvenience during this time and look forward to serve you soon. Please follow our social media pages and keep an eye on our website for further updates.

We will continue to share information regarding our programs and services during COVID-19, as and when they become available.

Meanwhile, please keep yourselves and your community safe. Please follow information on COVID-19 from Saskatchewan Health Authority here